Gareth Leonard Promoted to Managing Director of REGENESIS Remediation Technologies European Group

SAN CLEMENTE, CALIFORNIA, January 21, 2014— REGENESIS announced today that Gareth Leonard has been promoted to Managing Director of REGENESIS Europe headquartered in Bath, United Kingdom. REGENESIS is recognized throughout Europe as a leader in developing advanced remediation technologies for contaminated land and groundwater and for supporting environmental consultancies and contractors with best-of-class remediation services. In his new role, Gareth will be responsible for managing the collective European team located in various regions including the UK, Belgium, Ireland and Italy. Gareth steps into a key role previously held by Dr. Jeremy Birnsitngl who was recently promoted to Vice President of Environmental Technology for the Company.

Gareth Leonard

Previously, Gareth served as the Regenesis District Manager in the UK and Scandinavia where he was responsible for remediation technology design, sales and applications support across the area. Prior to joining Regenesis in 2006, Gareth held key technical and management positions within the environmental contracting industry.

About REGENESIS:

REGENESIS is a recognized leader in the environmental remediation industry through its development and sale of proven, innovative remediation technologies which significantly reduce the cost, time, and difficulty of restoring contaminated soil and groundwater at a range of sites including Brownfields. REGENESIS products are used by leading multi-national environmental engineering and consulting firms around the world and have been applied on more than 19,000 soil and groundwater cleanup projects.
